Reinecke Lost the Match by

About Six Minutes.

"That man puts up the best game of any man you have seen against me in Richmond," said Dwyer to the crowd last singht, referring to Charlie Reinecke, the clever wrestier, whom he had just defeated by throwing him twice in Rity-three and one-half minutes, the first fall coming in twenty-live and one-half minutes. Dwyer had agreed to take Reinecke on in a handicap match, to throw him twice in an hour. He carried out his agreement, but he had to hustle and had little time to spare. Once or twice Dwyer resorted to what the crowd felt was dirty work, and they roundly hissed him.

The impression made by Reinecke upon his first appearance here seven weeks ago was fully sustained last night. He was the favorite from the start, and gained a lot of applause at many stages of the game. Voices from all over the house urged him to "win out," and it looked very much like a victory for him.

But he got his feet off the mat at a critical point of a bridge, and with no hold for them Dwyer played the youngster for the erree directed the wrest fers to get back on the mat. Then it was too late for Reinecke to recover the lost ground, and in about a minute he was put down.

But even at that the heavier and stronger man has no mean opponent in him. Remecke will arrange for a match in Newport News within a week. This will be followed up with one in this city, in which he will meet two wrestlers of note at one match, one after the other. His matches here will be for benefits. He will give a large share of the receipts from each match to some charitable or other organization. He will also arrange to give other attletic exhibitions during the summer.

The chase was greatly enjoyed by all who rode. Starting from the Reservoir, the party galloped over fields and woodland, far out to the west of the city, and aircled back late in the evening to the club-house. There were no ladles riding.

FINE LECTURE BY
REV. DR. STALKER
A cultured audience at Union Theological Seminary last night heard with pleasure and profit the second of the series of lectures being delivered by Dr. James Stalker, the distinguished writer and scholar, of Aberdeen, Scottand.
The attendance was large and again included many of the Richmond clergy, as well as others from different cities. The utmost attention was given, and the pleasant and agreeable voice, with its slight Scotch accent, had entire command of the room. Dr. Stalker's popularity increases as he proceeds, and the next lecture in the course will probably be more largely attended than ever.

COUNCIL CIRCLES.

Council circles are quiet. Only two new names have been added to the list-Messrs. C. C. Jones, in the First Ward, and Harry Owen, in the Second.

Alderman Patram said last night he would again be up for re-election. He has served the city for several years and has performed valuable services. His constituents will not think of him as other than a member of Council, a good citizen and a fine gentleman.

It was said last night in several places that Mr. Jones would be elected from the First Ward. Mr. Owen will go in from the Second, as there will be two vacancies with the dropping out of Councilmen Fahr and Sampson.

THESTRADING

tory Tax on the Ground of Unconstitutionality, tion of the Commion Council in taxing trading stamps companies in this city to the amount of $1,000 has created considerable talk among the citizens, most of which is favorable to the Council. The companies operated in this city have received instructions from headquarters to remain, as the tax is unconstitutional. It is likely, therefore, that litigation will follow the action of the Council, but that body anticipates no unfavorable developments in a suit,

'Mr. W. B. McIlwaine, who appeared before the Council in the interest of the merchants against the trading stamp companies, stated that the ordinance will hold in court. The local press of the last few days has contained long communications from the trading stamp men as to the advantage derived by the public from the stamps. The Council, backed by many prominent merchants, seems determined to get rid of what many term the trading stamp nulsance.

VIRGINIAN'S REVENGE

Carolina Team at Greens-

(Special to The Times-Dispatch.) GREENSBORO, N. C., April 23.—Twelve hundred people witnessed Carolina's inglorious defeat by Virginia here this evening. At no time during the game, after the first inning, could interest be aroused as Carolina piled up errors and goose eggs.

There was slight hope in the seventh, when Carolina scored two, but the enthusiasm was more over her salvation from being shut out than from any con-thusiasm was more over her salvation from being shut out than from any conviction of winning.

After scoring six in the first inning, Virginia seemed to play more to pass away the time than to develop further her evident superiority, making only three more scores during the game, closing with nine to two.

Batteries: Virginia—Pollard and Chandler; Carolina—Oldham and Noble; Umpire—Legrand; Time of game—Two hours and thirty minutes.

During the sixth inning, the game was interrupted by a most exciting episode, which at one time promised serious results, but terminated without any special cassualties. The bearer of a large Virginia flag from Danville, flaunted it in the face of a crowd of Carolina rooters in the bleacheries. It was seized by the latter and pulled from the grasp of the bearer, who struggled manfully to retain it. The Carolina boys had just pulled staff and flag in their midst, when a dozen Virginians spräng up to the bleacheries and soon there was an indiscriminate serap.

One Virginian, in true foot-ball style, had the tora banner under him in his clutches, while a pife of boys were pummelling him. But he worked out and next appeared on the diamond prougly flauntering the vanished and tattered flag while policemen and officers were struggling policemen and officers were

The Virginia yell announcing the possession of the flag, diverted attention from the fracas, when everything cooled lown and good humor prevailed ever after.

It was a miracle that no one was hurt seriously or injured in the melec or that no bad blood was shown over it. Carolina played the poorest ball seen here in thirteen years.

High Gun Yesterday.

There was a good crowd and plenty of enthusiasm at the practice shoot of the East End Gun Club yesterday afternoon.

The scores were a mixed lot of good and indifferent, owing to the towering targets. Some of the younger shots did well, especially those made by Mr. Clarence Coleman,

Mr. Coleman promised some of the boys at the beginning of the season that he would shoot so as to be cligible for a member of the first team. He is making wonderful improvement and it is safe to say he will make his word good.

Mr. Walter MacLelland was high gun with 43 out of 50.

The grounds have been very much improved by the addition of benches, a new shooting platform and a gun rack. This will add very much to the comfort of the shooters.
